

PRINCESS SAVANNA PUGHSLEY

This is me in December 2007 before I was diagnosed with my brain tumor.

May 21, 2008 – Celebrating my 4th birthday in the hospital. I couldn't eat BD cake because of the feeding tube in my nose.

May 27, 2008 – Going home at last!!!

ABOUT ME & MY CANCER

On May 6, 2008 I was diagnosed with a malignant brain tumor (it's called a medulloblastoma). I was admitted to the hospital that night, and on May 12, 2008 I had brain surgery to remove the tumor. I was supposed to stay in the hospital for only about a week after my surgery, but I had a lot of complications from the surgery: During a period of several weeks my eyes wouldn't work right; I became unable to talk and eat; I couldn't use my left arm; and, I couldn't walk!! But, I'm better now.

I began my radiation therapy & chemotherapy on June 12, 2008. I'll have radiation therapy every weekday for 6 weeks. I'll have chemotherapy every week or two for a year at the treatment center that is about 200 miles from my home. Because of this, I'll have a lot of travel related expenses. Due to chemotherapy I could get life-threatening infections, so my parents must make a lot of expensive modifications of my home and my two bothers will have to be home schooled by my grand father so that they won't bring bad germs home to me.

DONATIONS

I would very much appreciate any tax-deductible monetary donation you would like to make. You can mail a check to:

The Princess Savanna Foundation
117 Kissimmee Road
Fitzgerald, GA 31750

If you would like to donate via PayPal (www.PayPal.com), this is my PayPal account ID:

Princess.Savanna.Foundation@gmail.com

THANK YOU FOR YOUR KIND & GENEROUS HELP!!

Donations may also be made via the web at:

www.Princess-Savanna.com

Please feel free to print copies of this flyer and distribute it.